Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 32 and 35-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 32, there is no antecedent basis for "said shrinking" and "the opening".

In claim 35, there is no antecedent basis for "the patient's body wall".

In claim 37, there is no antecedent basis for "said shrinking".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 23,24 and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Green, et al.-5314435.

Green discloses a method of performing an anastomosis including introducing an annular stapler with a head and an anvil portion into a body lumen; Excising a portion of the lumen forming two open ends; closing the ends with a linear stapler drawing the head towards the anvil, stapling the body sections while cutting the butt portions to form a closed anastomosis. The head is removable from the rest of the stapler. See fig. 4-9 and col. 1 lines 48-67; col. 2 lines 19-21; col. 3 lines 3-53; col. 6 lines 1-45 and col. 7 lines 43-45.

Claims 23,24 and 27-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bessler, et al.-5411508.

Bessler discloses a method of performing an anastomosis including introducing an annular stapler with a head and an anvil portion into a body lumen; Excising a portion of the lumen forming two open ends; closing the ends with a linear stapler drawing the head towards the anvil, stapling the body sections while cutting the butt portions to form a closed anastomosis. At some point during production the head would be separated from the rest of the stapler. See fig. 4 and col. 14 lines 3-46.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 35-40 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: the prior art does not disclose both jaws of an annular stapler being detached, inserting the flexible stapler body through a body wall, and introducing the two jaws through the body wall and attaching them to the stapler body, in conjunction with the remaining anastomosis procedure.
